

Apollo 12 in Lunar Orbit

'We're Ready to Go'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 12's astronauts looped the moon with unerring precision today, checked out the lander Intrepid and said "We're ready to go" for a pinpoint touchdown on the Ocean of Storms.

"We've checked all the things we're supposed to and they're all shipshape," Alan L. Bean radioed earth control from Intrepid's cabin.

Bean and Charles "Pete" Conrad planned to unlatch the landing craft from the nose of the command ship Yankee Clipper late tonight and land on the moon at 1:53 a.m. EST Wednesday. Richard F. Gordon will remain in orbit.

The three astronauts announced to the world "The Yankee Clipper has arrived with Intrepid in tow" after a braking blast placed them in orbit at the end of a 3½ day voyage from earth. They were away from the view and sounded like excited tourists with a scientific bent.

"It almost looks like somebody took some cake icing and spread it with a big knife, laid it all around and then somebody shot some BBs into it," Bean said in a midnight television spectacular. "It really is beautiful."

Conrad and Bean spent more than an hour in the lunar module. They tested its communications system, using Intrepid's own power for the first time. They also checked the oxygen pressure in their moonwalk breathing unit.

They began their fifth lunar orbit, ranging from 63 to 76 miles high, at 5:58 a.m.

As the Navy commanders swept around the moon for the first time, Bean reported one area looked "like there was a big giant up here blowing sand all over the place." But to Conrad, it looked more like a concrete driveway in front of his home in Timberlake Cove, Tex.

As soon as they swept around from the moon's far side on their first orbit, the astronauts turned on their miniature color television camera and showed the world a rugged, crater-pocked surface colored like "light gray concrete with a touch of brown in it."

"It looks like the beach sand at Galveston when it's wet," Conrad said.

Their description ranged from "fantastic", "beautiful" and "wow-ee" to scientifically based observations of possible volcanic vents, fault-dropped valleys called grabens, fractures running through craters and long, trench-like features known as rilles.

During their 32 hours on that desolate landscape, Conrad and Bean will:

- Conduct two moonwalks, each lasting from 3½ to 4 hours, up to a half mile from their spacecraft.
- Set up a nuclear-powered scientific station designed to operate for a year, detecting moonquakes, measuring magnetic forces, examining the extremely thin lunar atmosphere and studying the electrically charged stream of gases blowing from the sun.
- Carefully collect 100 pounds of rock samples, twice the amount brought back by Apollo 11.
- Inspect the robot Surveyor 3 spacecraft that landed there 2½ years ago and bring back its television camera and three other parts.

Conrad hopes to park Intrepid between two little unnamed craters that lie just 300 feet apart—the length of a football field. Surveyor 3 rests on the slope of one.

Although most of the prime objectives of the $350-million mission are devoted to the exploration of the lunar surface, one key goal is to prove the moonship can achieve such pinpoint landing accuracy. Apollo 11 was four miles off target.

To achieve a bullseye touchdown, the astronauts and Intrepid's computer must know the relative position of the spacecraft's constantly changing orbit and the landing site better than they were known for Apollo 11.

The astronauts were scheduled to awaken from the 8½ hour sleep period late this afternoon and begin preparations for Intrepid's separation from the nose of the command ship Yankee Clipper at 11:16 p.m. Gordon will back his bullet-shaped craft 40 feet from Intrepid and then fly around it, with the television camera on, to make certain everything is in order.

At 12:45 a.m., Intrepid's big engine will drop the lander into an orbit coming within 9½ miles of the moon. Then, at 1:42 a.m., the engine will be fired again for the final, 11-minute drop to the moon.

Step - By - Step on the Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Except for six minutes to erect an American flag and eight minutes to position a color television camera, the Apollo 12 moon explorers plan to devote all their time to science on their first moon walk Wednesday.

Astronaut Charles Conrad Jr. plans to be outside three hours and 14 minutes during the initial stroll, while Alan L. Bean is expected to be outside two hours, 23 minutes.

Wednesday's excursion will begin with Conrad backing out of the hatch of the moonlander Intrepid at 6:02 a.m. EST. A second stroll begins at 12:32 a.m. Thursday, when Conrad and Bean visit the now dead Surveyor 3 spacecraft.

Using a scoop with an extension handle, Conrad will pick up a sample of rock and soil, put it in a bag and send the bundle in a container up a clothesline-like conveyor belt to Bean.

Conrad then will snap still photos as Bean starts down the ladder at 6:32 a.m.

After Bean familiarizes himself with the one-sixth gravity, Conrad will spring open an antenna which looks like an upside-down umbrella. Officials hope the antenna, to be activated for the second moon walk, will improve communications with earth.

Bean will mount the TV camera on a tripod 20 feet from the lander. Then he and Conrad push a staff into the ground and attach a nylon American flag to it.

Both astronauts then will take out the scientific instruments contained in two subpackages. Using a long-handled tool, Bean will open a cask containing plutonium 238, an atomic fuel element, and insert it into a nuclear electric generator that powers the instruments.

Bean, carrying the experiment instruments and generator, and Conrad will walk to a site about 1,000 feet west of the lander craft. There, they will distribute the instruments.

After photographing the experiment site, the astronauts will return to the landing craft and collect rock samples with long-handled tongs en route, stowing them in saddle bags attached to their waists.

Back at the Intrepid, Conrad and Bean will put the saddle bags in a box, then Bean will drive a core tube several inches into the moon's surface to collect a verticle profile of the lunar soil. It will be placed in the rock box.

Strategic Arms Talks Begin at Last

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Awash with conviviality, U.S. and Soviet negotiators began private talks today to search out prospects for an accord to curb the nuclear arms race.

U.S. Ambassador Gerard C. Smith, Soviet delegate Vladimir S. Semenov and their advisers met at the American Embassy to begin working out arrangements for substantive negotiations. These preliminary discussions behind closed doors are expected to last several weeks.

Whether or not the envoys ever get beyond the preliminary round, the sendoff for SALT—Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—is being bathed in official good will and cordiality.

After the formal, champagne-sipping public opening Monday, Finnish Foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainen entertained the diplomats at a reception.

Finnish President Urho Kekkonen is the host for today's reception. And Wednesday—for the first time in history, U.S. officials here believe—the U.S. and Soviet delegates are giving a joint party.

At Monday night's affair, Smith told newsmen the talks had "started well." Semenov termed the opening session "very fine" and predicted that would apply to today's meeting too.

However, the negotiators gave no specifics. Both sides have agreed to keep tight secrecy on the substance of the discussions while they are under way.

The envoys have agreed to alternate meetings between the American and Soviet embassies, but how often they will convene is still undecided. The Russians favor daily sessions. The Americans prefer parleys on alternate days, contending this gives time for better preparation.

The chief task of the Helsinki round is to fashion a framework for full-scale negotiations later. Among the negotiators' tasks here, informants said, is to work out what disarmament items should get priority attention when the full-fledged bargaining begins.

A high priority item for the American side is the MIRV—multiple independently targetable re-entry vehicle—the multi-warhead missile which both nations are testing.

The Soviets gave no hint of their priorities during a half-hour meeting on procedures that followed the public opening session Monday, informants said.

At the United Nations, plainly concerned about the success of their arms limitation talks in Helsinki, the United States and the Soviet Union launched the annual disarmament debate Monday on an unusually conciliatory note.

Omission of the usual invective made delegates hopeful that this year's U.N. disarmament talks will be more fruitful than such discussions in the past.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost and Ambassador A.A. Roshchin of the Soviet Union both expressed hope that the Helsinki talks would bring an end to the nuclear arms race. Both also called for quick approval of the U.S.-Soviet draft treaty to keep the seabed free of nuclear weapons.

County Tax Rate To Be Less in '70

By LYNN MULVANEY KINGSTON

Ulster County taxpayers will not have to ante up as many tax dollars in 1970 as they did this year.

The county preliminary budget indicates that the amount of money to be raised by taxes is down $1.1 million from this year, even though the total appropriation is up $2.3 million.

This, coupled with the fact that there is a $2.8 million increase in assessed valuation, indicates that taxpayers will part with fewer dollars should the legislature act favorably on the budget.

The preliminary budget also calls for a $2,500 increase to $7,500 for the chairman, a $1,000 increase for the majority and minority leaders bringing them to $4,000 and $3,700 respectively and a $1,000 increase for each of the legislators, bringing their salaries to $3,000.

Under the legislative board budget the amounts recommended for wage increases for the chairman, majority, and minority leaders and 30 legislators are over and above the salary requests made.

A public hearing has been set for Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 in the Legislative Chambers of the County Office Building.

Mayor Garraghan sees $7.60 tax reduction for Kingston in 1970. Story Page 3.

Some, but not all of the reasons for the happy tax reduction news is attributable to sales tax revenue estimated at $2 million for 1970. The total of estimated revenues including appropriated cash surpluses and reserves is up $3.4 million.

Just how much of a dollar reduction per thousand of assessed valuation the budget will mean for each taxpayer has yet to be determined. The rate will vary from town to town and in the city and a table of tax rates has not yet been developed.

The total appropriation for 1970 is $19,087,032.01. In 1969 it was $16,736,784.05, up $2,350,247.96.

The total estimated revenue for 1970 is $12,667,322.97. In 1969 it was $9,189,312.69.

The new budget shows increases and decreases in various departments and includes salary increases for members of the legislative

$150,000 Granted by Ford For Area Planning Study

By HUGH REYNOLDS NEW PALTZ

Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress has been granted $150,000 from the Ford Foundation toward its goal of $360,000 in "start up" costs for a regional planning study.

The seven counties include Ulster, Dutchess, Greene, Columbia, Orange, Putnam and Orange Counties.

The New York State Urban Development Corporation (UDC) has already committed $100,000 toward the project. The six month start up effort will get the program underway followed by an 18-month period when the program will be fully implemented.

Under the program, the future economic and population of the seven-county area will be studied and recommendations made toward maintaining a balance between jobs and housing, protection of natural open spaces and historical sites, the creation of what Pattern terms "real communities" rather than urban sprawl, the organization of major facilities such as hospitals and the location of industrial sites to assure a choice of public transportation as well as auto transportation to work.

The planning program has been under serious discussion for most of this year and led to a meeting between Pattern officials and more than 100 local government officials in Orange County in September.

Attending that meeting were Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan of Kingston, Peter J. Savago of New Paltz, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature and Dean M. Kintner, president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. C. David Locks, president of Pattern, called for a partnership between the private and public sector of the region in planning for the future.

According to federal estimates, the population of the seven-county area served by Pattern for Progress will more than double in the next 30 years to about 1.5 million persons in terms of present growth patterns that means a new city of 45,000 persons every year.

The current planning stage toward which the Ford Foundation contributed, involves Pattern for Progress, the State Urban Development Corporation, the New York State Office of Planning Coordination and the Hudson River Valley Commission.

Pattern for Progress was organized in 1965 to help meet the needs and demands of regional growth. It has been fully staffed over the past two years and has been pursuing a broad program aimed at improving the area's resources in higher education, health care facilities, public and open spaces and city rebuilding.

Pattern has also acted as a spokesman for the area at state agency hearings in New York and Albany affecting the public investment in the Mid-Hudson's future development.

Awarded Man For Injuries

BOSTON (UPI)—A Brookline man Monday was awarded $820,000 for injuries, including the loss of a hand, suffered in an automobile accident last year. It was believed to be the nation's largest out-of-court settlement for a personal injury claim. John Buckman, 22, received the settlement for injuries suffered March 15, 1968, in a truck-auto collision near New Haven, Conn. The defendants were the Wilson Freight Co. of Ohio and Chester Berger of New Jersey, driver of a Wilson truck which struck a car in which Buckman was riding. Buckman, on Army leave at the time of the accident, suffered the loss of one hand, partial loss of the other, severe facial injuries and burns. Edward M. Swartz, Buckman's attorney, said it was the largest out-of-court settlement for a single personal injury in the nation's history.

Fire Near Ellenville Destroys Two Buildings

ELLENVILLE ing the winter months, said the buildings were a total loss, which she estimated would run into thousands of dollars. Two large frame buildings on the property of the Echo Hotel on Briggs Highway off Route 52 about eight miles outside this village, were swept by fire of undetermined origin this morning. Fire officials began an investigation to determine the cause of the blaze. Mrs. Sam Wagner, wife of the owner of the hotel which is open weekends for guests during the winter months, said the buildings were a total loss, which she estimated would run into thousands of dollars. Police received a call from State Police who discovered the blaze at 4:03 a. m. and all fire units from the Ellenville department were dispatched to the hotel property, which is in the protection district covered by the local firefighters. On arrival, it was reported, the two structures were engulfed in flames. Firemen in command of Chief Robert Maden directed streams of water on nearby frame buildings and managed to keep the fire from spreading. One large building was used as the quarters for employees. The other was used as the boiler house and for storage purposes. The buildings were unoccupied at the time, according to Mrs. Wagner.

Leary Gets Request, Trial Without Jury

POUGHKEEPSIE County Judge Joseph Giudice today granted Dr. Timothy Leary's motion for a trial without a jury. Leary made the request Monday concerning his trial on charges of possessing and giving away LSD, the drug he helped bring to national prominence. Leary's lawyer had moved for postponement when two co-defendants failed to appear. The charges against Leary, Arthur Kleps, William Haines, and a corporation date back to 1968 when they were accused of allowing the Leary estate near Millbrook to become a public place where persons gathered for unlawful purposes. The property involved was listed as owned by the Hitchcock Corp. Lawyers said Kleps, who describes himself as the "Chief Boo-hoo of the Neo-American Church," is in a mental hospital in Washington, D.C., and Haines is on the West Coast suffering from a heart condition. The blaze was discovered by State Police who were on patrol. At 4:20 a. m. a call was sent to the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., and a crew of linemen went to the scene to shut off electric power. Firemen fought the flames more than two hours before the fire was termed under control. Firefighters remained at the scene until about 9:30 a. m. wetting down smoldering debris.

Ray Sees $7.60 Cut for 1970, 'Pay as You Go' Policy Holds

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
The City of Kingston can expect a $7.60 tax reduction in 1970, according to Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan who is currently drawing up the budget for next year.

Garraghan will present his budget for a public hearing between Christmas and New Year's Day. The Common Council is expected to act on it during the first week of January.

$2.49 Poughkeepsie Hike
The City of Poughkeepsie budget was made public Monday night and showed a tax increase of $2.49 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation. Spending is up by some $985,- 151 in Poughkeepsie to an all-time high of $11,841,097. Poughkeepsie, unlike Kingston administers its own social services program and that program accounts for the bulk of its budget.

The budget, presented by Poughkeepsie City Manager James J. Mulcare, was referred to the city council's finance committee. A public hearing will be held on Dec. 17 and the city council will vote on it on Dec. 22.

Garraghan will continue his policy of "pay as you go" in the 1970 budget. "We will avoid borrowing whenever possible," he said. "Money will be appropriated in the budget for capital improvements."

Garraghan said he expects to spend $127,000 for street lighting in the '70 budget as compared to $132,000 this year. Modern lighting will be provided for the area from Col. Chandler Drive along Albany Avenue to Clinton Clinton Ave.

That figure could be higher since the administration is currently in negotiations with appropriate unions representing more than $33,000 for new lights for Dietz 300 city employees.

Spending is expected to top the five million dollar mark but increased expenses will be off-set by additional revenues primarily from increased state aid and additional sales tax revenue along with a total surplus of approximately $200,000 from the 1968 budget and this year's budget.

Garraghan expects to increase salaries for city employees by a total of $150,000.

Search Centers In New York City For Drug Addicts

BEACON
State police are centering their search in the metropolitan New York City area for three drug addicts, still at large from nearby Matteawan Rehabilitation Center.

A fourth addict was picked up by City of Beacon police Monday morning, hours after the four went over a Matteawan fence.

Police also suspect that two and possibly three cars were taken by the escapees, who range in age from 18 to 22, and who were described by Matteawan officials as "hard corps" addicts.

All residents of the surrounding New York City area, the four were suspected by officials to be heading to their home neighborhoods after they escaped from the 360-man grounds of Matteawan State Prison.

William Quick, director of the drug rehabilitation center, said the escapees are "not considered dangerous," and that they most likely "headed back to their own neighborhoods."

On Agnew's TV Criticism

Humphrey Leads Demos' Charge

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders, keynoted by Hubert H. Humphrey, have accused the Nixon administration of seeking to stifle criticism and suppress dissent in the United States.

Humphrey aimed the charge at Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, his successor in that job—and beyond, at President Nixon. "I believe the Nixon administration is really not trying to bring us together, but is engaged, knowingly or unknowingly, in a polarization process," said Humphrey. "polarization with the intended result of the suppression of dissent."

"I doubt that our country has seen in the past 20 years such an obvious and calculated appeal to our people's lesser or baser instincts," Humphrey said.

Humphrey, Democratic presidential nominee a year ago, said the administration is on a course which will lead to backlash, repression and reaction.

The Democratic Policy Council, an issue-shaping panel of party leaders headed by Humphrey, adopted a resolution declaring:

"We cannot tolerate in silence any attempt to silence debate in a free society."

The Humphrey charges and the council resolution were prompted by Agnew's Nov. 13 speech criticizing television network news coverage—specifically those commentaries that followed Nixon's report to the nation on the Vietnam war.

Humphrey said the Democrats may ask the television networks for equal time to answer Agnew's speech, which was broadcast live from a Republican conference in Des Moines, Iowa.

"The Nixon administration's attack on the news media, as expressed by Vice President Agnew and the supporting statements of Director of Communications Herbert Klein, Federal Communications Commission Chairman Dean Burch and other administration spokesmen, alarm those who believe in the right to dissent and in a free press," the council resolution said.

"Certainly government officials have a right to defend their actions and to challenge those who criticize them," the resolution went on.

But when the highest officials of the government launch a deliberate and premeditated attack upon the right to comment—with a clear threat of economic consequences to the news media—this is a serious matter, and a cause for alarm. The Agnew speech also drew criticism from Nicholas Johnson, a Democratic member of the FCC and frequent critic of the television industry, who called it an attempt at news management.

Johnson said the appointment of Burch, former Republican national chairman to head the FCC, raised the danger that the commission's broadcast licensing power could be used for intimidation.

the showdown be put off because many senators plan to be away Thursday.

The Nebraska Republican also told reporters the Haynsworth nomination might be set aside temporarily while the Senate takes up a House-passed bill to provide for a lottery draft.

While Hruska opposed Mansfield's plan for a vote at 1 p.m. Thursday, the Republican senator did not rule out the possibility of a vote on Friday.

Haynsworth supporters, some of whom indicate time is working on their side, picked up two votes Monday to run the total to 39 in favor of the nomination, 40 opposing confirmation and 21 melts quickly under close scrutiny. Hruska and other supporters of the nomination said during Monday's debate that they did not think Haynsworth's confirmation by a close vote would have an adverse impact on public confidence in the court.

However, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition, said Haynsworth's confirmation by a narrow margin would be bad for the court.

A new appeal to reject Haynsworth's nomination was made to all senators in a letter from Roy Wilkins, chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

Prouty said in a statement "the blizzard of accusations against Judge Haynsworth

Black Market Pays Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff says black marketeers have made more than $1 billion by illegal manipulation of U.S. and South Vietnamese currencies.

The situation involves a criminal syndicate, is international in scope and has hurt seriously the American attempt to shore up the South Vietnamese money.

The Connecticut Democrat said prior to his investigations subcommittee opening public hearings today into the illegal racket.

Ribicoff said the illegal money market involves federal employees, members of the U.S. armed forces, government-affiliated contractors, American businessmen, South Vietnamese citizens and nationals of other countries.

He said witnesses will give evidence on specific illegal money dealings through American and Hong Kong banks totaling about $360 million over the last five years.

The hearings are the second phase of an extensive on-the-scene probe by staff investigators over the last year.

The first phase dealt mainly with a small group of senior noncommissioned officers accused of raking hundreds of thousands of dollars from NCO clubs in Germany, the United States and South Vietnam.

Large profits are possible in illegal money operations in Vietnam, subcommittee aides said, because of the substantial difference in legal and illegal exchange rates.

The official exchange rate is 118 South Vietnamese piasters to the dollar.

The black market rate is usually 170 piasters to the dollar and has reached 200, investigators reported.

Winterize for Safety

Ulster County's highway death toll so far this year is 49. Just how much higher this appalling traffic fatality record is going to reach before the year's end depends solely on the motoring public.

Each year at this time we call attention to changed road conditions, which are fraught with difficulties and which demand change in driving habits. Motorists concerned about preventing highway accidents change their driving habits with the change in the weather. Interested in highway safety, these responsible motorists help police maintain safe conditions on the streets and highways.

Pre-winter conditioning checkup on cars now will help in the drive for an accident-free winter season.

The automobile's exhaust system should undergo a thorough examination along with that of the brakes. Be sure wiper blades, heater and defroster are working properly. And be sure your vehicle has good tires.

Now is the ideal time to have your car winterized. It is far enough ahead of the snow and ice to assure protection.

Winterize your car and also winterize your driving techniques.

Agnew Points Out Problem

Vice President Agnew has gone and done it again. He has said something, a thing a Vice President is not supposed to do. This time he has raised a question that has been bothering serious-thinking people in the newspaper business for some time, and that is the power that news telecasts hold over the thinking of millions of Americans. That it is awesome, we have no doubt.

Mr. Agnew, with the blunt approach that is winning him new friends among the people every day, thinks it wrong, and dangerous. As his best example, he points to President Nixon spending three weeks on the most important speech he has made since entering the White House, only to have it dissected, pulled apart and mostly criticized by these tube analysts seconds after the speech has been finished. Viewers hardly had time to give any thinking to what the President said, before they were subjected to a torrent of views. Mr. Agnew suspects these mostly were preconceived before the President went on the air.

Mr. Agnew made very clear the distinction between news and editorial opinion when he reminded his listeners they would find his speech in the newspapers next day as he gave it. That is the nub of the situation. There is clear line of separation between news and comment (editorializing) on television, so the viewer never can be sure which he is getting.

Television coverage, is, in many cases superb. The landing on the moon is one of the many examples. It's the unclear status of the reporting that goes with it that's the problem.

Zero Literacy

Education is one of the biggest cost items in the lives of all of us. We spend more years going to school than ever before. A college education has become as common as a high school education a few years ago. Yet, in one of the most vital areas—government spending, taxes and inflation—our level of literacy is virtually zero. There are about as many ideas of what to do about inflation as there are people—all because nowhere in the process of getting educated have we learned that when a government chronically spends more money than it receives in taxes, the result is inflation.

Premier Sato Wants Okinawa

Premier Eisaku Sato, arriving here to recover the island of Okinawa and thus bearing Japan's hottest political potato, is looking at Japanese politics. "I have staked my political future on this," Sato stated on leaving Tokyo. But Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., blessings be, has been looking at our Soviet threat and the best interests of the United States.

Senator Byrd disclosed to me that on September 4, in Moscow, Soviet Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin secretly but scathingly rejected Japan's attempts even to discuss Tokyo's claims to four Kurile-chain islands Russia seized as a result of America's World War II Pacific victory.

The U.S.S.R. and Japan signed a declaration ending their technical state of war on October 19, 1956—11 years after hostilities. And Byrd found that the Japanese quote Kosygin as stating that the balance of power established after the war "is imperative for world peace today." Soviet-minded Kosygin gave the Japanese a toothy scowl and a total "No" before they were even warm in their chairs.

Byrd, although a strong supporter of better U.S.-Japan relations, questioned how this allows us to give up Okinawa safely while the Soviet does the reverse. "That's the fundamental question—and danger," he told me.

Moreover, Byrd is disturbed by the one-sided atmosphere, symbolized when the Johnson Administration approved a project to erect a monument on Guam honoring the World War II Japanese soldiers who died there. Guam is an unincorporated territory of the U.S. Government and its people are U.S. citizens. Byrd questions how this travesty could be considered when there is no monument on Guam to the Americans who died fighting to defend the United States and to liberate the island.

On Okinawa, in the terrible battle that lasted 83 days, we suffered 49,151 casualties—12,521 Americans killed in action. We lost 763 aircraft; 36 ships were sunk and an additional 369 ships were damaged.

The present status of the strategic island, the largest in the 73-island Ryukyu group, was determined by our 1951 Treaty of Peace with Japan, effective April 28, 1952. Article 3 gives the United States complete administrative authority. And today Okinawa is our most important single military base complex in the entire Far East. We poured $260 million more into it only last year.

Beginning with President Eisenhower, each administration since 1952 has firmly maintained that Okinawa's unrestricted use is vital if we continue to have Far Eastern obligations.

"How can we support our Pacific guarantees, as we claim we will, and also surrender our facilities?" is the agonized question Byrd asks. "If we didn't have the obligations, fine," he told me, "but we do have them and we do know what the Soviet is doing about the Kuriles."

On Secretary of State William P. Rogers' recent Far East visit, able Premier Sato acknowledged to him that with our gradual withdrawal from Vietnam Japan must pay more (and costly) attention to Japan's military responsibilities, especially if she regains sovereignty over Okinawa, thereby extending Japan's frontier 40 miles southward to embrace a million more citizens. But Premier Sato also told Mr. Rogers in advance that the Tokyo government wants us to continue to guarantee the safety of Japan, continue to guarantee Okinawa's safety and continue to spend hundreds of millions of our taxpayers' dollars on Okinawa.

Nevertheless, the Tokyo government seeks to remove the strategic island from our nuclear shield—a "nuclear-free" Okinawa—and have a veto over all U.S. actions affecting Okinawa. This outlaws our use of the vast, vital base for combat operations without prior consultation with Japan.

So, with the November 17 arrival of Premier Sato, Senator Byrd introduced a Senate resolution. It requires that any change in our Japanese peace treaty be first presented to, and ratified by, the Senate. He also coordinated an amendment to a House bill (HR 12964), expressing Congress' requirement that the President not agree to changes in any territory's status described in Article 3 without the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Byrd bill passed the Senate by the whopping vote of 63 to 14. And President Nixon's Okinawa negotiating hand is immensely strengthened in view of the fact that dangerous, Soviet-minded Kosygin laughed the Japanese Kurile negotiators right out of the ball park.

General Hollis Gets to See His Men and He's Trusted

By TOM TIEDE
 NEA Staff Correspondent
 CU CHI, South Vietnam—(NEA)—The United States Army in Vietnam is now made up in large part by active members of the never-tire-anyone-over-30 generation.

And he shows. The gap between young and old here—that is, subordinates and superiors—has never been wider.

Many young privates feel their commanders are an assortment of dum-dums who think modernism means changing underwear every day. Many veterans, on the other hand, wish some of the newer men would indeed change underwear every day.

Some enlisted men say that GI morale is dipping dangerously. The reason that the military leadership's lack of participation in "the new world" is antagonizing and alienating much of the rank and file.

However, many career officers and NCOs don't agree that a communications crisis is building. They admit the modern soldier asserts his individualism more than generations before, but they insist men today, as men always, are generally satisfied. In this school of thought is Harris W. Hollis, commanding general of the 25th Infantry Division.

Says he resolutely: "Well, I may not have as much personal contact with my men as I'd like but I think their morale is very good indeed."

Hollis, two stars and 20 years over 30, is no dodo. Nor is he a fabricator. He bases his assessments of how his men feel by "several broad indicators," such as combat efficiency and citation statistics. Both get high marks in the 25th Division.

Harris Hollis is a 27-year Army veteran, and this is the 12th month of his third year. He took command of the 25th by design, rather than computer. He was commanding general of the 9th Infantry before it was withdrawn from the war. And, despite the fact there is a long list of generals wrestling for field commands here, Hollis was selected because of merit.

He's all general; no argument there. Slender, stony-faced, short bristles of graying hair, he lives "in the best hootch in Cu Chi," as the GIs say. He wears patent leather combat boots and he eats from real plates. But as much as any private in his ranks, he earns his pay by putting in long days of frustrating difficult wartime labor.

Moreover, he isn't entirely concerned with the big picture. The little snapshots actually take up more time. Even the grumblers in his command admit he makes a particular point of getting out everywhere to see his men.

And most of the men he sees, even the mods, he likes. He says he's not opposed to the outspokenness of today's GI. Not as long as the soldier continues to get the job done. His views:

"I think we all have to recognize that the Army is getting more and more people of diverse outlook. And I think everyone is entitled to his own opinion—as long as it's not counterproductive. I think I understand young people somewhat. I have two of my own—one in high school, the other in college. They've taught me a few things."

"What it all comes down to with a soldier is the question of leadership. My own personal feeling is that a commander should treat every man as a man, not as a child. Recognize he has rights. Recognize he has pride. Recognize his need of comradeship. In sum, I think commanders should give their men their loyalty—and that way it's certain to be returned."

The comments, perhaps, are a bit stiff. Maybe even slightly sentimental. But they stand for decency and fairness. So does Harris Hollis. And who says there can't be some square planks on the bridge over the Army's generation gap?

Security Messenger Service Carries More Than Secrets

WASHINGTON—The armed force, runs a little-known, top-secret courier service that conveys this nation's military secrets under maximum security to U.S. bases around the world. Sleeplessly, the officers and men of the Armed Forces Courier Service baby-sit vital packets, crates and bags of secret material in transit.

Not long ago, a shipment of securing documents to Frankfurt, Germany, was clandestinely unloaded at the airport. The weary but dutiful guardians were a bit startled when a crate of secret documents began to leak red liquid.

They poked into the classified cargo and discovered a dozen cases of red American wine, being smuggled as secret data by some Army bigwig. The indomitable couriers had ridden shotgun on 120 bottles of non-secret, non-vintage wine.

Not only was this a serious violation of regulations but a disastrous breach of taste. The contraband wine had been bootlegged into Germany, which ranks second only to France in the quality of its wines.

Flying Wine Cellar
 Horrified Army authorities immediately hushed up the incident. It might give the public the idea that the elite service, established to protect our nation's military secrets, had been corrupted by the Army brass into a military parcel post service for high-ranking scofflaws.

Queried by this column, the Army confessed that the flying wine cellar had been intended for the 25th anniversary of the liberation of Holland. Indeed, it was accompanied in the top-secret crates by plaques commemorating the historic battle. Like the wine, the plaques would hardly qualify as "classified" material requiring protective handling by military courier."

This column has learned that at least three other incidents of suspected illegal shipments by secret courier are under investigation. How much unchallenged contraband has gone from the U.S. to brass hats abroad, or from crony to crony within the U.S., cannot be determined.

Note: within the country, secret documents are often transported by air taxi and trucks. Priority Air Dispatch, Inc., handles some of these lucrative shipments. It is an interesting coincidence that Priority Air's chief dispatcher is a retired Navy commander, E. F. Carl, formerly director of the Armed Forces Courier Service.

Inferior U.S. Schools
 In a confidential report to Congress, ex-Ambassador to Madagascar David Ki-g as declared bluntly that impoverished, underdeveloped Madagascar has better public schools than he has found in the United States.

"Its teaching methods are austere," he acknowledges, "without frills or gadgets." But he claims that Madagascar turns out "better informed, better trained and better adjusted" high school graduates. He blames the American "inferiority" upon "our failure to discipline our students to stretch their minds more fully."

Just back from Madagascar, King made a detailed study of the Malagasy school system during his 2½ years as ambassador. Five of his own children attended school there. His findings, stamped "Confidential," have been submitted to the House Education and Labor Committee.

"I have seen the Malagasy students in the fifth and sixth grades," he states, "wrestle with tough grammatical language assignments which wouldn't be expected of American students before at least the seventh or eighth grades, if ever. Since I cannot agree that Americans are innately less mature than Malagasy, I must assume the cause of this humiliating discrepancy is our own academic foot dragging."

In King's view, "The blackest day in the history of American education was the day our teachers threw away the word 'must' and substituted a low fear permissiveness, incapable of meeting the average student's requirements of a program of systematic study. Today, an American parent has to enroll his children in a foreign school in order to realize what a low-calorie diet they have actually been surviving on."

Too Little Homework
 "The meagerness of our required workload is all the more bewildering in view of the increasing amounts of free time made available to our students by modern technology. The line taken at current academic conclaves is that America, being under pressure to teach its youth more facts in less time than ever before, has turned out a generation of students better informed than any other generation since the beginning of time."

"This may be correct if we are talking about quantities of students taught, but if we are talking about quantities of information absorbed by individual students, then the proposition is open to serious question."

Noting that Madagascar's total school budget "could scarcely pay for the nose cone on a Saturn V rocket," King acknowledged that American students "enjoy countless advantages" such as "a more cosmopolitan environment," a luxury budget for first-class facilities and opportunities for travel and broadening individual horizons.

But he demands: "How can our school system claim credit for these?"

The King study may spur Congress into taking a more penetrating look at America's schools.

TV's Educational Breakthrough

Sesame Street 'Must' for Tots

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—It has taken television 20 years to reach the landmark it passed in the middle of this month—its first imaginatively conceived, carefully designed effort to use its heralded potential as an educator of children.

Along the way it has worn out most comics, perfected canned laughter to divert attention from their threadbare materials, killed the great days of live serious music that enriched radio, made and unmade hundreds of politicians, soaked up 35 years' worth of old Hollywood movies, drastically shortened the life span of nearly every kind of rewarding entertainment.

Of course, television has had its own great days. It took us to the moon and to the neighborhood of Mars. It has shown us people, great and small, these inner reaches of great buildings, the sweep and color of the world's fascinating places.

It has brought history inside the house almost as quickly as it is made, although dismayingly often through a lens and microphone that seem to acutely tuned to angry voices and moments of trouble.

All this time, it has been educating children whether it was trying to or not. The average American child watches television in his preschool years for as many hours as he will spend in school during his first five elementary grades.

To reach this nation's 12 million preschool-age children, stimulate their growth and prepare them for their formal schooling later, a truly experimental 26-week series of hour-long, daily television shows have been put together by the Children's Television Workshop, an arm of National Educational Television.

You will read, correctly, that these programs copy much from bigtime television's commercials, since it was discovered long ago that kids "pay more attention to them than almost anything they could watch. But that just scratches the surface.

Under the guidance of the workshop's executive director, Mrs. Joan Cooney, the series—called Sesame Street—must go down as one of the most exhaustively researched and tested undertakings in education of any sort.

Upwards of 80 specialists—educators, advertisers, filmmakers, television programmers, psychologists, psychiatrists, writers of children's books, etc.—took a hand in breaking ground to get at the tough problem of preparing preschool youngsters, especially those in deprived circumstances, for regular schooling and for life itself.

The specialists fretted endlessly over how to attract the kids' attention, how to get it back if they lose it, how to drill home basic instruction in numbers, letters, ideas like "more-less," reasoning skills, what the countryside and animals are like, a thousand and one things and ideas that link a developing child to his world and the people around him.

These experts knew they had to be funny in different ways, quick-moving to keep attention, richly varied in topics and techniques (cartoons, puppets, real people, singing jingles and the like to carry the story). Repetition, a staple in advertising, is big in this, too.

The whole thing will cost $8 million, provided by two private foundations and several federal agencies, including the U.S. Office of Education, which played a substantial role. To start real schooling at age four, as some suggest, would cost nearly $3 billion yearly.

Some 175 educational television stations will carry Sesame Street to youngsters in more than 40 states. If the mothers get those kids in front of that screen regularly and this thing works, then perceptive historians may remember mid-November of 1969 far more for this breakthrough than for the headline-grabbing Vietnam moratorium.

Easier Now to Become Millionaire

By DICK KLEINER
 NEA European Correspondent
 LOS ANGELES—(NEA)—It's a rather modest home—for a millionaire.

His name is E. Joseph Cossman. He's tall, dynamic, good-looking. He boasts about his lack of formal education. He wears flashy clothes and eats health food. And his home is in a part of town that is decidedly middle-class.

Yet hundreds of people pay thousands of dollars to hear Cossman talk, and listen to his get-rich-moderately quick suggestions, at "A Seminar for Future Millionaires." His lectures take him this fall to cities such as Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Miami.

The gist of his message is this: It is easier now than ever before to become a millionaire.

"I started 20 years ago, with $300," Cossman says. "I'm no brighter or better educated than the other guy. I barely made it through high school. But I found out a few things."

And the "few things" he found out, he shares—in a book called, "How I Made $1,000,000 in Mail Order." He has peddled, via the mails, toy guns which shoot potato pellets and ant farms and shrunken heads.

Cossman says that 80 per cent of the products which he will all be using 10 years from now haven't been invented yet. This constant parade of new inventions and new products means that there is always room for the novel and the idea man. But he also suggests this "idea man" sell his products to one of the large mail-order houses and let it do the work.

He says that the average man works from Jan. 1 to the middle of May, each year, to pay his taxes. So he suggests getting a tax break by starting "a kitchen table business"—making or distributing something at home—which immediately qualifies you for some major tax deductions.

He likes to point out that the government, besides giving a just starting entrepreneur tax breaks, is ready to help in other ways. He's written a book called "How to Get $50,000 Worth of Services Free, Each Year, From the U.S. Government." And he points out, for example, the work of SCORE.

This is a function of the Small Business Administration. The acronym stands for Service Corps of Retired Executives, and these men will lend you their time and experience for up to eight weeks—at no cost—to help you get your business rolling. "With all this," he says, "it has never been easier to become a millionaire than it is today." Good luck.

Mrs. Fouquet and her common-law husband, Ronald F. Fouquet, 31, Bell Gardens, Calif., are accused of abandoning Jody beside a freeway south of here last month.

At the end of the daylong session, the Fouquets' court-appointed attorneys asked for dismissal of a felony count against the couple which charged they placed the child under circumstances likely to produce great bodily harm.

Judge Doyle Miller set Dec. 4 as the date for a ruling on the motion. The Fouquets also are charged with willful child abandonment.

They were arrested Oct. 29 in Bell Gardens, five days after a highway patrolman found Jody clinging to a fence beside U.S. Highway 99. Jody told authorities her parents let her out of the car during the night and told her to wait by the fence.

Bill Lansdown, Camas Valley, Ore., who says he is Jody's real father, requested custody of the child at the hearing. The request was turned down pending further investigation into the Lansdowns' background.

Lansdown, Mrs. Fouquet's former husband, told investigators the woman also had custody of another child the couple had, Jeffrey, 8, an investigation has revealed that Jeffrey has been missing at least eight months.

The Fouquets, upon advice of their attorneys, so far have refused to talk about the whereabouts of Jeffrey.

For Marine Corps League Ball

U.S. Commandant to Visit Here

KINGSTON Edward J. Bange, national commandant of the Marine Corps League, will be an honored guest at the 22nd Marine Corps Ball, to be held Saturday night, Nov. 22, at Kingston's Walnut Grove. It was announced by John J. Kerbert, commander of Ulster Detachment of the MCL.

Commandant Bange has notified the committee that he and his wife, Margaret, will join local Marines in celebrating the 1964th anniversary of the founding of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Gilbert E. Gray, chairman of the ball committee, noted that Bange recently spent four days as guest of General Chapman, commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps at the famous Marine Corps Barracks in Washington, and on Thursday Bange will attend a dinner at the White House as guest of President Nixon.

Several New York State Department Marine Corps League officers also will attend the annual ball here. Gray, New York State Department commander, will be joined by Adjutant John Zak, known as Mr. New York State Marine Corps League; Eastern Area Vice Commander Joseph V. Sullivan, and Department Judge Advocate Donald L. Frost of Newburgh.

The committee reports that the advance sale of tickets for the ball indicates the event will be one of the best conducted locally. Tickets are available from any member of the league.

This year's event will be highlighted with a floor show which will include supper club performers, singers and dancers well known throughout the country.

Lee Stanley, popular comedian, will be master of ceremonies.

EDWARD J. BANGE

Profiling Potential Hijackers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Aviation Administration reports it is having some success with a secret anti-hijacking system that is being tested at an undisclosed number of unidentified airports.

All the FAA will say about the system is that it screens passengers according to "psychology-based behavior profiles." The profiles were developed after the backgrounds of hijackers were studied to determine certain common behavior traits.

Any passengers whom the profiles fit apparently are detained for questioning and possible search.

"I'm delighted, of course, that the system looks promising and I certainly wouldn't want to do anything that might compromise it. I couldn't help wondering, however, just what behavior traits hijackers have in common."

Permits Speculation

If the FAA will permit a bit of speculation on that point, it is my guess that a psychology-based behavior profile might shape up something like this:

A swarthy man wearing a floppy straw hat, a serape and huaraches slides into the airport terminal. He is smoking a Cuban cigar and has a copy of "The Diary of Che Guevara" under his arm.

After a few furtive glances at the guard at the door, he approaches the ticket counter. He appears to be extremely nervous. Speaking with a heavy Spanish accent, he says "What time does the next plane leave for Havana...oops, I mean Miami."

"Flight 1107 departs for Miami at 11:08 a.m., sir."

"I would like a ticket, please. One-way."

"Very well, sir. Will that be first class or coach?"

"Which one is closer to the pilot?"

First Class Closer

"The first-class cabin is directly behind the pilot's compartment."

"Okay, make it first class."

"Very well, sir. Do you have any luggage?"

"Just this rifle."

"Would you like us to check it for you?"

"No thanks. I'll keep it in my seat with me."

"As you wish, sir. Would you like us to reserve ground transportation for you at the Miami Airport?"

"No, thanks. I won't be landing at Miami."

"But this is a nonstop flight, sir."

"Would you like to bet on that?"

"We aren't allowed to gamble, sir. Here is your ticket and thank you for flying with Trans-Pan Airlines."

Search for Hidden Diabetics To Be Aided by Local Clinic

KINGSTON Free diabetes testing will be available here through Saturday as part of the search for more than 1.6 million "hidden" diabetics in the U. S.

Based on an estimate of eight per 1,000 population, there are approximately 1,120 "hidden" diabetics in Ulster County.

These figures come from the American Diabetes Association, which is sponsoring Diabetes Week nationally, and the Ulster Chapter, New York Diabetes Association, the local sponsoring group.

A "hidden" diabetic is a person who has the condition but is unaware of it, explained Dr. John Alley, president of the Ulster County Medical Society.

"The presence of diabetes may be indicated by excessive thirst, excessive urination, loss of weight, itching, constant hunger, easy tiring, slow healing of cuts and scratches, and changes in vision," Dr. Alley said. "However, a person may have the disorder and not know it." Anyone, even children, may develop diabetes, Dr. Alley

Spa Resort Destroyed

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y.

(AP)—The Old Homestead, a summer resort near Saratoga Lake, was termed a total loss Sunday night after fire of unknown origin swept the rambling wood structure.

Firemen of three companies battled the blaze, which Quaker Springs chief Stephen Pogor said had engulfed the house turned-resort by the time his men arrived.

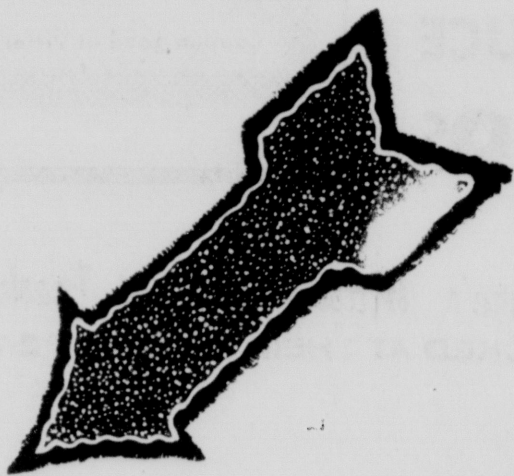

The building was closed for the season and unoccupied. Pogor said the loss had not been estimated by owner Patrick Leiner, easy tiring, slow healing of noted. But adults over 45 are leading candidates—especially when they are overweight. Those who have a history of diabetes in the family are even more likely to develop the condition. Women are more prone than men to become diabetic, Dr. Alley emphasized, and for that reason should be particularly alert for common symptoms of diabetes.

Special arrangements for testing have been made through the courtesy of Hawk Sales and First Federal Savings and Loan Association. This week tests will be given at the Kingston Shopping Plaza today through Friday from 10 to 12 and from 2 to 4 p.m. Also on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. On Saturday the testing will be done at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Fair Street, from 10 to 12 noon and from 2 to 4 p.m.

Helpful Hints

Face hair is best removed by waxing. Bleaching only makes it more noticeable and doesn't last as long. Waxing seals off hair growth at the roots—but because the face is so sensitive, it's best to have this done professionally. The process should last for about six months. Ask your beautician.

Trying to stay fit? Bicycling is one good way—especially in the brisk, invigorating air of late fall and early winter. Break into a bike routine gradually and be sure to carry a compact first-aid kit in your basket for comfort and beauty. Stock your kit with Band Aids, some antiseptic first-aid cream and a tiny hairbrush.

There's no substitute for healthy, shining skin. One of the things that keeps skin healthy is a minimum of make-up. Most make-ups can clog pores—hiding dirt rather than getting rid of it. A light liquid foundation, applied with a dampened sponge is, best.

Wicker wastepaper baskets and tissue dispensers are attractive and useful room accessories. They come in vibrant colors and they wear well.

Accutron Keeps Time Better Than Any Watch You Can Name

And what accounts for this extraordinary accuracy? Something that hums instead of something that ticks. In place of the usual wheels and springs, the Accutron watch has a tiny, electronically driven tuning fork as its basic timekeeper. The vibrations of this tuning fork split up each second into much more precise little intervals than a balance wheel can. That's why accuracy is guaranteed to within a minute a month.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute
TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE WITH TODAY'S QUIZ

Unfortunately, letter writing is becoming a lost art.

I receive many letters asking whether it is necessary to acknowledge thank you notes, letters of congratulation, sympathy cards, etc. This week I received a single letter which included so many of the inquiries most commonly received that I am using it in its entirety as today's quiz. How high is your "acknowledgement knowledge"? Do you know which of the communications below require an answer?

Dear Mrs. Post: Over the years I have written many letters to personal friends for various reasons, and very often have not received any reply. It has seemed to me that many people do not realize that communication through letters is important. They are too busy in this hurry-up world to take the time. They would pick up the phone, although in these instances, no one picked up the phone either.

In the following instances, is it correct or incorrect to ignore a note or letter?

Q. A personal letter to a bereaved friend who has lost someone close to him.

(A. Incorrect. All personal notes or letters of condolence should be acknowledged as soon as possible.)

Q. A sympathy card with a note or signature.

(A. Incorrect. Sympathy cards with hand written notes fall in the category of personal letters. Only in the case of printed cards—no personal writing whatsoever—from business organizations or similar sources, is it unnecessary to acknowledge them.)

Q. A personal letter to someone convalescing in a hospital, who is not incapacitated.

(A. Incorrect. ALL personal notes, including get well wishes, should be acknowledged.)

Q. A card with a note attached to a convalescent.

(A. Incorrect. Get well cards should also be acknowledged, especially when they are accompanied by a note. This simply courtesy can be therapeutic as well as courteous, unless the patient is very weak.)

Q. A thank-you letter to a hostess after visiting for dinner.

(A. Correct. A thank you for a thank-you note is not necessary at all.)

Natural Gas Shortage Looms

—From October 27, 1969 Newburgh News

An FPC staff study issued Oct. 1 disclosed that proved natural gas reserves will decline from their current level of 14.6 trillion annual production to 10.2 times annual production by the end of 1973.

Utilities say they can't guarantee gas supplies for large versions in some areas, said W. Morton Jacobs, president of the American Gas Association. The Bureau of Natural Gas in its latest national study, moreover, has forecast a deficiency by 1974.

Gas supplies mainly have been affected in the East, but a Midwest pipeline company is backing off on expansion because it lacks sufficient supplies.

Claim Marlboro Planners 'Put Off' Low Pay Housing

HIGHLAND residents and friends of the Rev. Mr. Taylor who were present at the Nov. 11 meeting of the board, that being put off after having complied with the latest and supposedly final suggestions would be the last straw.

The Nov. 11 meeting proved fruitless, said the supporters. "Though Row Pauli, the surveyor, was present and patiently explained in detail the last two changes made at the board's request, Mr. Polizzi, acting chairman, still insisted that the board needed 'more time to further study the plans and either recommend approval or disapproval to the town board.'"

"It was beyond everyone's understanding," continued the statement, "why the four members of the board who were present and had the power to do so, refused to go into closed session and decide that evening whether to recommend approval or disapproval to the Town Board that was meeting in the next room."

"In fact, all 35 people, who are interested in the outcome of the project, decided to wait until Mr. Taylor brought it up at the town board meeting."

The Rev. Mr. Taylor was given an opportunity to bring up Hill Top Estates at the meeting, "at 10:20 p.m. after waiting for two and a half hours," a supporter said.

He was "non-committally put off until further discussion for the next meeting."

The supporting friends of the Rev. Mr. Taylor said he has put in more than two years of submitting, revising, and resubmitting plans for a small subdivision of 11 homes on a 12.8-acre site on Western Avenue and Alberson Lane in Marlboro.

The homes are to be three- and four-bedroom pre-cut National Homes that ordinarily sell for $16,500; but through federal assistance under the Manpower Training Act, will be a cooperative project to train unemployed men in the building trades. The homes would sell for around $14,000.

$158,146,037 County School Aid

ALBANY public schools will be $1,509,925.06, according to a report released by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt. The county received the same amount in September.

The total payment represents approximately 8 1/2 per cent of the assistance due during the 1969-70 state fiscal year. Dutchess County's share will be $2,258,768.44, of $416,666.66 more than the $1,842,101.78 received from the state in September.

Greene County's share in the latest distribution will be $344,328.82, the same as the amount received in September.

The distribution is the third to be made during the current school year under a law enacted in the 1963 Legislature which changed the distribution and payment dates for most school districts. The apportionment is based on statistics for the 1968-69 school year.

Payments are made to school districts in accordance with computations made by the Department of Education and audited by the Department of Audit and Control.

Welfare, School Boosts

Pressure to Be on the Rock

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—

Heavy pressure will be on Gov. Rockefeller and the 1970 legislature to increase state aid for welfare and education.

The move for more help to local governments is being planned by a powerful group of mayors, with John V. Lindsay of New York doing the organizing. They will ask Rockefeller for "millions of dollars more" direct state aid.

Lindsay, who has constantly been accusing the state of short-changing his city on tax collections, began organizing the drive for more money as soon as his re-election was assured. He has contacted mayors in the state urging them to support the legislative pressure.

One of the first new mayors to be contacted was Lee Alexander of Syracuse. Alexander is a Democrat but it made no difference to Lindsay.

"This is a non-partisan effort to get the money we need for welfare and education," an associate of the New York mayor said. "City officials, regardless of politics, must make the legislature realize we need more financial help from the state."

The governor and his fiscal advisers rejected Lindsay's plea for a special session to deal with welfare matters because "there just isn't any money available."

"It would be useless to call a special session of the legislature because there just isn't any money," Rockefeller said.

He gave his views to Republican legislative leaders, Sen. Earl W. Brydges of Niagara Falls and Assembly Speaker Perry Duryea, and, after a lengthy conference, it was decided to "close the door at least for the time being."

The GOP leaders called off a special session to deal with reapportionment of congressional districts because they feared that once the lawmakers were in Albany things could begin to happen. Lindsay and his colleagues, they reasoned, would try to force the special session to take up welfare problems even though the agenda was restricted to reapportionment.

One administration source said that after Jan. 1 the state's financial condition "may permit some adjustments in state aid."

"We may be able to make some adjustments, but history shows that no matter how 'ar' the state goes, the localities always want more," he added.

Next year, not only the governor but every member of the legislature must face the voters. They will be opposed to increasing taxes, never a popular issue with the voters.

Democratic minority legislative leaders, on the other hand, say financial assistance to the cities can be made without added taxes.

"Economies in the operation of the state government can be made and will give us the money we need for the cities and the schools," Assemblyman Stanley Steingut said. "There are many areas to be reviewed and we intend to take a look at all of them."

So, with the mayors and the Democratic minority putting on the pressure, something will have to give.

Rep. Fish at Chamber Meeting

Public Noise, Sentiment to Get Things Moving

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — "It takes public noise and expression of sentiment to get things moving," Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. told a breakfast meeting of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce Monday.

"The House is responsive to this broad public sentiment for there is no other way of explaining why it has jumped in on the tax reform bill, a change in the electoral college system, census reform and draft reform," he said in his talk on past and future measures to come before Congress.

Many Topics

Touching on many topics,

Fish emphasized the economics of the Nixon administration, saying the big effort has been to curb inflation because of excessive corporate and consumer spending.

He talked of the Stewart Air Force Base closing, possible postal and welfare reforms and reform within the Congress with regard to its own seniority system.

Of the recently announced Stewart Air Force Base closing, Fish said it was "highly unusual" for the government to give a short three months notice especially in view of the fact that the base's 1,000 employees would receive a Christmas present of joblessness. The impact on the area is "all out of proportion with other closings," he explained because of the large number of employees at Stewart.

"It is an important facility to the Hudson Valley," he said adding that he had written the Secretary of Defense on Oct. 31 asking that the order be either rescinded or that the base be phased out more gradually. To date he has received no answer.

Fish said it has been suggested that the airport become a general aviation facility and that it would have enough room to also accommodate cargo planes.

He suggested that the public take an interest, contacting not only him but U. S. senators and Congressman Martin McKeenly in whose district the base is located.

"The struggle to keep inflation under control," the congressman said, "is based on the belief that a reduction in the rate of growth of the economy will be reflected in a fall in the rate of inflation."

Ingredients in this struggle, Fish said, are a reduced level of federal spending, restrictive credit policies, maintenance of a high level of taxation and repeal of the investment credit.

Regarding reduced federal spending, Fish pointed out that the Nixon budget is four billion less than former President Johnson proposed and that every department of the executive branch is down except the Justice Department. It increased its budget in an all-out effort to crack organized crime. He advised that the $5.8 billion projected surplus is anti-inflationary and that Congress has added an historic ceiling. "For the first time the Congress has pegged executive spending to the proposed budget figure."

Interest Rates

Of restrictive credit policies, Fish explained that interest rates are at an all-time high because the demand for money is strong in an exuberant economy. He said it is felt that rates will start downward when the full impact of the anti-inflationary program is felt, "hopefully in the spring."

Fish explained that maintaining a high level of taxation has been the most painful duty for Congress. Saying the administration put its weight behind the extension of the surtax, "a difficult decision politically, as many Republicans had campaigned in 1968 for repeal of the surtax." He added the price demanded by Congress for extension was tax reform and presidential backing for sweeping comprehensive reform.

He said he voted for it because it guaranteed that it was not simply more money for government to spend but would comprise a budget surplus with a guarantee of board tax reform.

Speaking for businessmen who have been adversely affected by repeal of the seven per cent investment credit, Fish said that the administration is aware of the hardship and is planning other actions to offset the adverse effect. The Congress, he said, has promised more rapid depreciation write-offs.

Fish was introduced by Chamber President Dean M. Kintner.

LONDON (UPI)—The Hanson quintuplets—Joanne, Nicola, Julie, Sarah and Jacqueline—are "maintaining their improvement and are coming along quite nicely," a spokesman for Queen Charlotte's Hospital said today. The quints were born Thursday night, nine weeks premature.

This is the second year that the Salvation Army has held senior citizens in the county at events of this type. Last year, no charge, he repeated. Promore than 250 senior citizens came to dinner at the lounge, he added.

9-Point Agreement Reached With Albany High Negroes

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Albany public school officials are committed today to implement "as soon as possible" an agreement worked out with dissident Negro high school students.

The nine point agreement was worked out Monday night, five days after city police routed about 100 demonstrators from the Albany High School auditorium. The forcible eviction last Wednesday was followed by several hours of violence during which small gangs of black teenagers broke at least ten store windows and overturned a car.

Points agreed upon included recruiting more Negro teachers, administrators and guidance counselors, adding black history to the regular curriculum and allowing Afro-American clothing styles. These were similar to demands submitted by blacks several days before the students, accompanied by some university students, locked themselves in the auditorium.

Student representatives met with school superintendent Dr. James Hepinstall for about four hours before announcing the agreement Monday — the first day officials allowed the city's five senior and junior high schools to open since the trouble. Hepinstall also met with parents' groups and others in the past few days, but a board spokesman said the agreement was with the students.

Another meeting was set up for next Monday and both sides agreed lines of communication should be kept open. Albany high has a student population of 1,500, with about 300 Negroes.

The nine points, as announced by the spokesman:

- Black history will be a regular part of the curriculum, from kindergarten to the 12th grade.
- An aggressive effort will be made to recruit qualified black teachers and administrators, with a particular effort to find a black physical education instructor.
- Afro-American attire is acceptable dress in school under the usual guidelines of decency.
- Sensitivity training will be made available for the white faculty.

- Blacks are guaranteed representation on the student council, in an arrangement to be worked out.
- Agreement in principle for the inclusion of a black guidance professional on the high school staff.
- The board will encourage the formation of parent-teacher

Most Miserable 3 Years, Claims LBJ's Brother

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lyndon B. Johnson's term as John F. Kennedy's vice president was "the most miserable three years of his life," his brother said Monday.

Sam Houston Johnson, in an article published by Look magazine, said Kennedy's "new frontiersmen" subjected Johnson to repeated snubs and humiliation even though the Southern votes he drew to the Democratic ticket in 1960 were essential to Kennedy's hairbreadth victory.

"They made his stay in the vice presidency the most miserable three years of his life," Johnson wrote. "He wasn't the No. 2 man in that administration, he was the lowest man on the totem pole."

"He was openly snubbed by second echelon White House staffers who snickered at him behind his back and called him Uncle Cornpone."

Sam Johnson said his brother remained loyal to Kennedy, though he did say at times that "some of the people around him are bastards." He said the vice president "exploded" when Mrs. Sam Johnson told a harmless joke about Kennedy in his presence.

Noted Albany Restaurant Closes Quietly

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Keeler's, a downtown Albany restaurant in operation for more than a century, quietly closed down Monday, apparently the latest victim of Albany's business decline.

The closing was so quiet that surprised employees reported for work in the morning and found doors locked and a hand-written sign stating "Closed." Up above, over the double doors, was a more fancy sign, proudly proclaiming "Our 104th Year."

The downtown area, in the past year, has lost its railroad station, the city's oldest department store, the city's biggest hotel and the city's biggest theater. Most of the closings were blamed on decaying business conditions.

From New York City, Simon Adler, owner of the restaurant building, said he had begun dispossess proceedings against the restaurant operators, Amsterdam Catering Corp., several months ago. He said he would be in Albany today and if he could find no one else interested in running the restaurant, he would operate it again, as he did from 1955 to 1966.

Roman Ruins

USK, Wales (AP)—Digging at the site of a Roman fort has turned up 13 granaries covering nearly half an acre and dating back to the time of Emperor Nero in the first century AD. Archaeologists said the number of granaries indicates a large-scale Roman campaign in South Wales.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened easier today in moderate turnover.

Technically, at least, the market may be prepared for some recovery after five straight losing performances. Traders also could find encouragement from the Federal Reserve Board's report of a third successive monthly decline in industrial production. The report supplies some evidence that the long-range slowdown in the economy is underway.

It is the general consensus that only when there is conclusive proof of a slowdown in price inflation and the economy will the government relax its tight squeeze on credit which has largely been responsible for the market's deep slide much of the year.

Electronics were mixed, but oils generally moved forward. Motors showed slight weakness, as did steels.

Endangering Boy's Welfare Charged to Man

KINGSTON

Charles Amor, 26, who gave his addresses as 251 West 18th Street, New York City, and 424 Hasbrouck Avenue, was arrested today by detectives on a warrant charging him with endangering the welfare of a 12-year-old boy. The incident allegedly occurred while Amor was on a work detail from the county jail.

The case was adjourned until Nov. 21 by Special City Judge George A. Beck.

On July 6, Amor was sentenced in City Court to 90 days for obstructing governmental administration and 15 days for resisting arrest. Two charges of third degree assault were previously dismissed.

The arrest today resulted from an investigation by Sheriff William B. Martin, Investigator Harold T. Bowers and Detective Kenneth Radel.

Long Wait Ends for Ara Parseghian

Notre Dame Makes the Move After 44 Years

(By The Associated Press)

Notre Dame is noted for its football traditions—the Four Horsemen, the fabled Knute Rockne, “win one for the Gipper”—but Irish Coach Ara Parseghian is turning himself inside out with joy over the school's latest bit of tradition-shattering.

“I’ve waited 20 years to go to a bowl game so this is quite a day for me,” he chirped after the college snapped a 44-year ban on post-season games and agreed Monday to play in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Jan. 1.

“I think a precedent now has been set and if we have good ranking and receive bids we can go to a bowl game every year,” he added.

Notre Dame, ranked No. 8 in The Associated Press' latest poll, will play the Southwest Conference champion, either Texas or Arkansas, both 9-0.

No. 2 Texas and No. 3 Arkansas square off at Fayetteville, Ark., for the title Dec. 6. The loser will play No. 13 Mississippi, which stunned previously unbeaten Tennessee 38-0 last Saturday, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

Most of the major bowl matchups were quickly settled Monday shortly after the passing of the 12 noon EST deadline imposed by the NCAA.

No. 4 Penn State, 8-0, was paired against No. 7 Missouri, 8-1 and co-leader of the Big Eight, in the Orange Bowl at Miami, and No. 9 Tennessee agreed to play No. 15 Florida, 7-1-1, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 27.

The Rose Bowl, the granddad-dy of them all, won't be firming up until this weekend.

No. 5 Southern California, 8-0-1, meets No. 6 UCLA, 8-0-1 Saturday for the Pacific-8 championship and the host spot in the Rose Bowl.

Top-ranked Ohio State, which already has clinched a share of the Big Ten championship, is barred from a repeat visit to Pasadena because of the league's no-repeat rule. No. 12 Michigan, 7-2, plays the Buckeyes Saturday and a victory would assure the Wolverines the trip.

Even a creditable performance against the Buckeyes would probably send Michigan to the bowl because the league's other top candidate, No. 17 Purdue, was walloped by the Bucks 42-14 last weekend.

Auburn, Georgia and Alabama—all from the talent-rich Southeastern Conference—and Nebraska, the other co-leader in the Big Eight, gobbled up lesser bowl bids.

No. 11 Auburn, 7-2, will play Houston, 6-2, in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Dec. 31; Alabama, 6-3, will be the host team in the Liberty Bowl at Memphis Dec. 13 against the winner of Saturday's Kansas State Colorado game, and No. 17 Nebraska, 7-2, takes on Georgia, 5-3-1, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., Dec. 20.

South Carolina, 6-3, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, will play in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta Dec. 30. No. 10 Louisiana State, shutout by the glamor bowls despite a gaudy 9-1 record, has been mentioned as a possible foe.

But Coach Charlie McClendon of the left out Tigers said, “Right now our boys are so mad and despondent I don't think they would even accept a bid to the Rose Bowl.”

Notre Dame is making its first postseason appearance since the famed Four Horsemen & Co. defeated Stanford 27-19 in the 1925 Rose Bowl.

Money was the prime reason for lifting the ban. The Irish will probably get around $350,000 from the game, and school officials said it will be used to finance minority student programs and scholarships.

Penn State, the pride of the East, is making its second straight visit to the Orange Bowl. The Nittany Lions escaped with a 15-14 victory over Kansas last New Year's Night in the famous 12th man on the field incident.

HAMMERING A POINT HOME — Notre Dame head football Coach Ara Parseghian hammers home a point while addressing the Quarterback Luncheon in Chicago Monday shortly after the announcement that Notre Dame would break with 45 years of tradition to accept an invitation to meet either Texas or Arkansas in the 34th annual Cotton Bowl Classic in Dallas on New Year's Day. ## No Second Guessing

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—There was no second guessing on the Notre Dame campus Monday about the decision to let the Fighting Irish football team play in the Cotton Bowl.

Nor did former athletes challenge the decision either. Two Heisman trophy winners from Notre Dame, John Lattner and Paul Hornung, applauded the change in policy.

“I think it is good for the university, especially for Notre end up the season. If I were

Dame which has so many there and had the opportunity, subway alumni,” Hornung said. “I'd have been all for it.”

The current players, who voted unanimously for the game, declared it would be “a great challenge which could make the season for us.”

The campus kids agreed. Many already were making plans to spend New Year's Eve

Dame has gone to a bowl in Dallas, and once the school revealed its decision to go to the bowl, there was no other subject of conversation. However, classes continued on schedule, there were no parades, snake dances, or impromptu rallies.

“It's great and we should have done it long before this,” said sophomore Jim Heilman of Indianapolis.

“It's good because of the prestige,” Norm Barry of Chicago said. “I'd like to see us play a good southern team. We should have more to shoot for than just the polls.”

Tom Noser of Birmingham, Ala., who said he received “major grief after the 1966 season when we didn't go to a center field most of the time, bowl to prove ourselves,” added

Bowl-less Buckeyes Poll All the Votes

NEW YORK (UPI)—While put on an awesome performance in demolishing Purdue 42-14 Saturday, were named the nation's No. 1 college football team for the ninth consecutive week Monday.

Ohio State, unable to accept a bowl bid because of Big Ten policies, received 33 first place and two second place votes from the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches. The total was good for 348 points, easily outdistancing second place Texas.

Texas earned two first place votes and 305 points. The longhorns will meet Arkansas, which finished fourth this week, on Dec. 6 for a Cotton Bowl berth against Notre Dame.

Penn State, the nation's No. 3 team, will go to the Orange Bowl to play Missouri, which moved up to sixth this week.

Southern California, the No. 5 team this week, will meet seventh-ranked UCLA in their traditional rivalry Saturday to decide the western representative in the Rose Bowl.

Louisiana State, which finished eighth in the balloting, decided not to accept a bowl bid. Notre Dame, ranked ninth, broke a 45-year tradition by accepting a bid to the Cotton Bowl.

Tennessee, the nation's No. 10 team, will play in the Gator Bowl.

Auburn, No. 11, will face Houston, No. 15, in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, while 12th-

New Paltz Matmen Expect Good Season

The First Returns On Deer Kill-Good

KINGSTON — "The deer kill has been very good thus far. We have seen a lot of kills go by, including four bears," said Dick Folkert of Folkert's Sport Shop in Phoenicia. "I couldn't estimate the exact number, but I'm sure that it is high. The biggest buck taken so far was a 10-pointer shot by Bill Crosby, Kingston," he said. Deer season opened Monday.

Folkert also reported that a pair of hunters from New Jersey had a real good opening day as they took two deer and an eight-point buck. Al Peck, Phoenicia, shared the spotlight with local deer hunters as he too bagged a bear.

As reports of better than average deer kills on the opening day of the season Monday came in, a check to some of the other areas verified all that had been heard.

They're Out There
"The deer are out there," said Mike Spada of Spada's Sport Shop. "All the boys have to do is get out there and get them," he said. Mike did say, however, that no one he knew of had bagged any trophy-size heads.

"Most of the ones we have seen have been four-pointers, button bucks and spike-horns. But, there have been a lot of them," he concluded.

A report from Carroll's Bait Box in Kingston had Frank Studnicki, Ladlopp, knocking off an eight-pointer at Jockey Hill right around seven o'clock yesterday morning as the season opened.

Checking with the Perks and Swart Service Station, it was found that at least six Saugerties-area hunters, including one woman, had taken deer from the surrounding territory. The biggest one being a six-pointer shot by Harry "Bob" Lewis of Clarksman.

The Kelly Catch
The next one in size was taken by Patsy Kelly, the only woman who had been reported to have taken a deer. Patsy got a five-point buck, others from Saugerties were George Bowers and Barry Fellows. Both these men took four-pointers.

Bob Saehloff, Kingston, advertising director for the Kingston Daily Freeman, bagged a three-pointer in St. Remy earlier this morning.

Joseph Nagy Jr., RD 1, Kingston and Mike Reilly, RD 2, also Kingston, reported the first kill of the season on Monday, bagging an 8-point buck at 7:15 a.m. on Hurley Mountain Road.

The State Conservation Department issued a release last week concerning the prospects for deer season in the southern zone. The release incorrectly stated that the deer season ends Tuesday, Dec. 3. The date should have been Tuesday, Dec. 2.

By law, the southern zone deer season opens on the third Monday in November and closes the first Tuesday in Dec. Those dates are Nov. 17 and Dec. 2.

The northern zone deer season is also set by law to open Oct. 25 every year. It closes with the southern zone.

Red Hook's Fister Bi-Valley Choice

RED HOOK — Greg Fister, 5-10, 155-pound halfback for Red Hook High School's football team was named to the 14-man honor squad for the Bi-Valley section of the Dutchess County Scholastic League Monday. Fister, a junior, was the leading ball carrier for Coach Ron Black's Raiders.

14 members were picked by coaches to the squad because of ties in the voting Fister was the only member of Red Hook's 0-31 squad to make the all-star type team.

Joining Fister in the backfield were Herb Johnson, Millbrook, at halfback and John Freud, Pawling, at fullback. Both men are seniors.

In as much as Pine Plains and Dover Plains tied for the league title with 3-1-0 records, their respective quarterbacks tied in the voting for all league honors. Don Peck of Pine Plains and Bob Taylor of Dover ended up even in the voting for the signal caller's spot. Both boys are 6-1, 175 pound seniors.

Ron Maher, 6-2, 185 lb. sophomore was named to the left end position. Maher played at Dover and was a stand-out receiver for the co-champs. Larry Freeman, Pawling, at 6-2, 180 pounds and a senior, was named to the other end slot.

The tackles voted on the team were Matt Paterson a senior from Pawling and Steve Wing from Millbrook.

A tie in the voting also occurred at the center position between seniors Herb Robinson of Pine Plains and Larry Miassella of Pawling.

Fister has been rated by many close observers to be one of the best backs in recent Red Hook history. Black said of him: "Greg was our money ball carrier on a team that went through the throes of a rebuilding year. I definitely think he is college material."

Skipper and Knutsen All Mid-Hudson Picks

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College's two top soccer players have been named to the first eleven of the All-Mid-Hudson Conference team announced Monday.

Joe Skipper, a back, and lineman Liev Knutsen were the Senators chosen for the squad. Both were outstanding during the 1969 season, despite UCCC's lowly standing (0-5) in the league.

Coach George Vizvary described both as top notch, dedicated soccer players.

There were no UCCC players picked for the second team.

Mid-Hudson Conference champion Dutchess Community College dominated the team with seven players honored — three on the first team. The Falcons' Frank Longobucco won the league's outstanding player award. The other Dutchess picks were lineman Ron Clapper and Goalie Wayne Riffenburg.

Sullivan County was also awarded three first place players — Marshall Kotzin, goalie, who finished in a tie with Dutchess' Riffenburg, back Jack Mesias and back Larry Ryck.

Fullback Mickey Slomka of Orange County was the Orange first team pick. A mainstay of the OCC defense this season, he is a former S. S. Seward of Florida star. For four years he won all-county honors and was once Player of the Year in the Orange County League.

Lesnewich, a former soccer MVP at New Providence, N. J.

high school, tied for third in the Mid-Hudson scoring race with six goals in five games.

Fights Last Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
OMAHA, Neb. — Art Hernandez, 161, Omaha, outpointed Dub Huntley, 157, Los Angeles, 10.

The Indians, who open their season against Pine Plains on Dec. 12, should certainly improve on their 1968-69 rating of two wins and 10 losses. Besides the seven lettermen, Coach Joe Friedel, the Onteora AD, has several other boys who saw action last year.

The Indians' practice sessions are in full swing, with an impressive turnout of candidates for the open weight classes, as well as good competition for the returning veterans.

Coach Friedel feels that numbers are an important ingredient in building winning teams. "Competition for positions resulted in improved wrestling by all and depth for the team," says Friedel. "If all goes well, the weight classes fall right, no injuries and good team spirit. OCS wrestling could be good this year."

War Against Israel A Success . . . Egypt

By United Press International
Egypt's war minister, Gen. Mohamed Fawzi, says his country's war of attrition against Israel is a success, killing about 150 Israelis every month.

Fawzi made the statement Monday in a report to a secret session of the national assembly. The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram carried an account of the report today.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli military spokesman said four Israeli soldiers and a soldier's visiting wife were wounded in an early morning attack by Arab guerrillas on a military headquarters in the northern Sinai.

The spokesman said a curfew was imposed on the area after the 5 a.m. attack on the outpost near El Arish and that security forces had begun a hunt for the raiders. Bazaouas were said to have been used in the attack. In his report to the national assembly, Fawzi also said Egypt is planning to escalate its military operations against Israel but warned that Egypt must be ready to absorb additional Israeli blows.

The Egyptian official said the radio of Israeli casualties to its population was four times the Egyptian figure.

Al-Ahram also published an interview today with the commander of the Egyptian frogmen who early Sunday attacked Israel's Eilat harbor, damaging two ships with explosive charges.

The commander, whose name and rank were withheld, said the operation was "rehearsed scores and scores of times" before it was executed. "The only unusual thing we heard was the blaring sound of dance music from one of the anchored vessels," he said.

6 Per Cent Increase Begins for RR Freight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 6 per cent nationwide railroad freight rate increase — opposed by New York State — went into effect today.

New York Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz had petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to reject the increase as unfair to Northeastern United States' farmers. He said New York farmers were among those already at a competitive disadvantage because of substantially higher freight rates for agricultural products than other parts of the country.

Lefkowitz said the uniform rate increase had the appearance of fairness, but would only further aggravate the difference in rates.

The ICC announced its approval Monday, stating that it would be subject to further study with the possibility of a refund to shippers if further investigation showed the increase not needed. Railroads were expected to gain $600 million from the increase.

The railroads argued Oct. 18 that the increase was needed to offset rising costs, and should be allowed on an immediate emergency basis, sidestepping the normal 30-day waiting period.

The ICC denied the request, and made the railroads wait the required 30 days while it held oral arguments.

The meetings, co-sponsored by the New York State Nurses Association and District 11 of the Association, will be held tonight at the Holiday Inn, Kingston, at 7:30 p.m., and Wednesday at the Memorial Hospital of Greene County, Catskill, at 7:30 p.m. All registered nurses in the two-county area are urged to participate.

According to Miss Veronica M. Driscoll, R.N., NYSNA executive director, there is a critical need in the area for nurses to analyze their professional concerns and to determine what immediate, constructive action should be taken.

"This is not an organization meeting," Miss Driscoll stressed. "Our role is to develop a productive exchange of opinions among individual nurses, and to help them decide what approaches will best promote the profession of nursing in their area."

A New Park For Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK — The Village of Rhinebeck has decided to further enhance its appearance with the establishment of a 1½ acre park on the Landman Kill.

It will be located on South Parsonage Street on property presented to the Village for this express purpose in 1954 by the late R. Raymond Rickert in behalf of the Rhinebeck Realty Company.

Muck dredged from the stream will be able to raise the level of the land about two feet, and put the level above neighboring swamps and flood level of the creek.

The dredging, completed this past year, also deepened the stream to more than three feet.

Mayor Peter Sipperley said that the entire area will be seeded with grass, and eventually trees and shrubs will be added.

Trees have been removed from the property over the past two years at a cost of about $1,000.

The Landsman Kill is the site of the annual trout fishing contest, and the completion of the yet unnamed park will greatly improve the beauty and conditions of the central part of the village.

Sipperley has stated that he hopes the landowners, adjacent to the stream will continue their efforts to improve the creek area by cleaning up debris, trash, and muck.

Boy, 6, Killed
AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — A 6-year-old boy was fatally injured Monday when struck by a car on Franklin Street.

He was identified as Lanning Best, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derrrold Best.

DEAR ABBY: I am a plain ordinary GI doing my "thing" in Viet Nam. My problem is my mother. This sweet little old lady has been working as a door-to-door saleslady trying to earn money to meet me in Sydney, Australia, on my "R and R."

Now, Abby, don't get me wrong. I love my mother, but I really didn't have in mind spending my "R and R" walking my 50-year-old mother around Sydney. I mean there are things I'd like to do and places I would like to go where a sweet little old lady wouldn't fit in. Abby, I can tell from her letters that she has her heart set on meeting me.

How can I tell her not to? I don't want to break her hard-working heart. Sign this.

DEAR BEAST: If you honestly think you'd break your mother's heart, then let her meet you. Little old ladies of 50 are a lot sharper than you think they are. She could surprise you, join forces with a middle-aged kangaroo, and find herself a couple of jumps ahead of you.

DEAR ABBY: What should a woman do when someone crowds in ahead of her in a check-out line or at some counter where there are more customers than clerks to take their money? This happened to me again yesterday, and I was really upset because I was in a hurry. Afterwards, I was mad at myself for not having had the courage to stand up for my rights and put that rude woman in her place. If I had been determined to say something, what should I have said?

MAD AT ME IN ALBUQUERQUE

DEAR MAD: You could have said, "Excuse me, Madame, but I believe I was ahead of you." But one so rude as to crowd in ahead of another would probably have countered with "O, no you weren't! I was ahead of YOU!" You'd have gained nothing but a second attack of indignation, so you are better off acting lady-like and remaining silent.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a word to "ATTRACTED" from one who has "BEEN THERE". Don't give yourself a moment alone with the man who attracts you. It works!

I had the best excuse in the world—an impotent husband. But he's a fine man and a good father. I would never give up a man with my husband's qualities, and break up my family for a passing passion. Believe me the romantic urges can be controlled. The man once thought so irresistible seems to be just another nice-looking man. Nothing more.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

CONFIDENTIAL: TO "THE PARENTS OF THE WIFE" IN VICTORIA, TEXAS: I am sure you mean well, but don't try to talk your daughter into taking back a husband who "beats her to a bloody pulp ONLY when gets drunk." He may get drunk and kill her one day. Then what will happen to those adorable children? After the husband joins ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS and proves that he can stay off the sauce for a while, she can give him another chance.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SUSPICION: (Q.) My mother doesn't trust me. She has doubted everything I tell her ever since last spring. That was when I made the mistake of going into a boy's house when his parents weren't home.

He was just a friend and nothing happened, but Mom found out about it. She has never forgotten and won't let me, either. She reminds me of it almost every day.

I know I was wrong. I admit it, and have admitted it to her. I have told her I'd never do it again.

But I haven't been able to go any place without her checking up on me. Every time I go out she thinks I am going to his house again. I'm 16 and know what's right and what's wrong. How can I get her to stop checking up on me?—Not Trusted in Indiana.

(A.) Your mother's attitude is one of the reasons I warn girls to be very careful not to visit boys when neither of their parents is home. Adults are very likely to misinterpret such visits, no matter how innocent they are.

If you will be patient about your mother's suspicions, and very careful not to give her anything further to be suspicious about, I believe she will finally realize you are being honest with her and that her snooping isn't necessary.

In the meantime, maybe reading your letter will help other girls stay out of the same trouble.

HANGUPS: (Q.) We have a friend who shoplifts from any store we go to.

Also, when we have all-night girl parties she goes around practically naked and tries to get the rest of us girls to do the same.

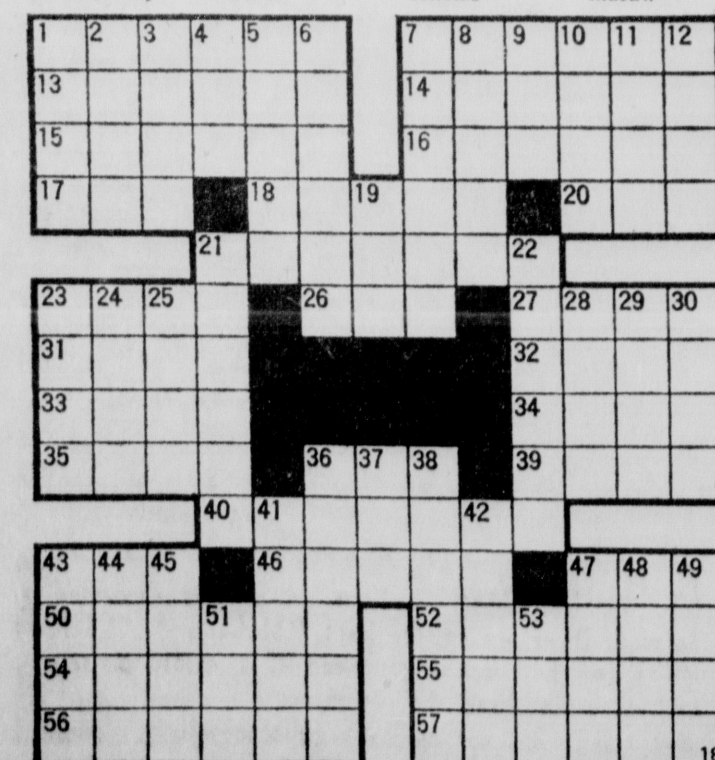

How can we get her to stop all this? Should we drop her?—D.S. and H.M. in Philadelphia.

(A.) This girl seems to have some hangups you can't cure. Drop her before she gets you into trouble.

establishing himself as the leading bridge authority of the '40s and '50s. Charley and I have been very friendly enemies for a long time, and, as Charley's partner, Helen was always my opponent at the table. She was a mighty tough opponent but it was always a great pleasure to play against her, win, lose or draw.

Helen and Charley retired about the same time, so when Helen decided to try one more national tournament she asked me to play with her. I am almost retired and our 1968 win of the Life Masters' Mixed Team may well be my last national win.

Helen never played much of a systems with Charley and, after 15 minutes' consultation, we played a system which might be described as Standard American catch-as-catch-can style.

On the very first hand, I tried it out. My five no-trump was the grand-slam force designed to ask Helen to bid seven hearts if she held two of the three top honors. The bid is an old one, although it was moribund for many years.

Helen thought awhile then when she won the woman's said, "I think his bid means pairs. In a few more years, she had established herself as the best player of her sex and commenced her partnership dropping doubleton in front of with Charles Goren. The suc-cess of this partnership had a lot to do with Charley's right contract.

(Oswald Jacoby is writing today's article by himself. It is about the late Helen Sobel Smith, the world's greatest woman bridge player.) Helen's bridge career started in 1932 when someone taught her the game. Her first tournament appearance was in 1934. When she won the woman's pairs. In a few more years, she had established herself as the best player of her sex and commenced her partnership dropping doubleton in front of with Charles Goren. The success of this partnership had a lot to do with Charley's right contract.

Two Moonwalks on the Tube

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Television viewers will see two moonwalks by man this week — the second and third in history.

Touchdown on the moon by the Apollo 12 crew is scheduled for about 1:53 a. m. EST Wednesday, and there will be live network coverage. The mission's first lunar walk, more than three hours in length, is planned for about 6:09 a. m. EST the same day, and viewers will see the whole thing.

Coverage of the second Apollo 12 moonwalk is set for approximately 12:40 a. m. EST Thursday, and will also last more than three hours. Liftoff from the moon is scheduled for about 9:23 a. m. EST the same day, and will also get live coverage.

Viewers See Recovery.
 Apollo 12 is expected to splash down Nov. 24 at approximately 3:58 p. m. EST, and viewers will see the recovery.

Regular network programming this week includes a notable one-hour documentary, "The Wolf Men," which airs tonight on NBC TV. Focusing on experts and naturalists who try to understand the habits of wolves in order to save them from extinction, it is a broadcast about an animal with a rather bad public reputation. But conservation is the real theme.

The achievement of humanism in "The Wolf Men" is no accident, since the producer-director-writer Irwin Rosten, whose similar touch was acclaimed in the National Geographic video special "Grizzly." In his on screen work, as in person, Rosten reflects the very genuine concern of a man who sees the long-term needs of maintaining an intelligent balance between human beings and nature — from noise levels in cities to continuity of rare species.

Rosten's success with his point in the tonight's program hits home strongly in a final sequence. In Alaska, men are seen shooting wolves for bounty from planes. One man says: "You have to like it, and I say that wolf hunting is a wonderful sport." The viewer who has been absorbed in the quietly understated message of the program might well feel disgust at this comment.

Outlines Reputation.
 The hour, narrated unobtrusively by James Coburn, outlines wolves' legendary reputation through stories, cartoons, children's tales "Little Red Riding Hood" and movies and an intelligent explanation of the reason.

werewolves, of course. It also explains the effort to gain insight about man's evolution through study of the wolf.

In addition, one sees experiments with wolves, and some rare footage of the animal in privacy, or as virtual pets playing with a lady researcher, and harmonizing with a male naturalist who plays clarinet.

There is also striking footage of Red Riding Hood and a research about the wolf man and of the reason.

TRIGGERED PROBE — An ex-GI whose letters apparently triggered an investigation into the alleged slaughter of hundreds of Vietnamese civilians by U. S. soldiers said he learned of the massacre from men who were there. Ronald Ridenhour, 23, a sophomore at Claremont Men's College, wrote to many officials, including President Nixon, but received a reply only from Rep. Morris Udall. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

'Good to Us Before That Day'

TRUONG AN, Vietnam (UPI) — A peasant farmer dug into the pocket of his black pajamas with gnarled fingers, withdrew a cloth wallet wrapped in plastic and held out the photograph of two girls.

"These were my daughters," said Du Chuc, 48, rubbing his hand across a scraggly black goatee. "They were killed by the Americans the day of the massacre. So was my aunt."

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Nhut, 70, stood barefoot in the mud a few feet away, her eyes rimmed with tears. She listened intently to Chuc's story as she chomped betel nuts that had turned her teeth coal black.

"The Americans had always been good to us before that day. They gave the children candy and once my husband got a pack of cigarettes," she said. "There were 11 in my family then. Now there are three."

U.S. spokesmen said the Army is holding Lt. William Calley Jr., 28, of Miami, Fla., at Ft. Benning, Ga., in connection with the slaying of 109 civilians in the same area on March 11, 1968. A squad leader in Calley's platoon, S.Sgt. David Mitchell, 29, St. Francisville, La., is being investigated at Ft. Hood, Tex., for allegedly committing assault with intent to murder in the same incident.

Speaking through an interpreter, some of Truong An's 1,500 residents today told what had happened during — what they call the "breakfast massacre" in mid-March, 1968.

"We were eating breakfast that morning," Chuc said. Suddenly artillery rounds, many of them, started exploding all around. It lasted maybe 30 minutes. We hid in bunkers. Then eight helicopters landed and American troops came into the village.

Okinawa -- Touchy Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — An agreement returning Okinawa to Japanese control in 1972 is expected to leave open the question of possible future American use of the U.S. military base on the island for nuclear weapons.

No official announcement has been made on the touchy question of nuclear weapons on Okinawa, but the matter has been settled in principle, according to reliable sources.

Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and President Nixon are to begin talks Wednesday on returning Okinawa to Japan within three years, although it will be Friday before any word of the nuclear issue is released.

It is believed Japan has agreed to permit the effective use of Okinawa as a U.S. base in the event of an emergency involving the defense of Japan and areas vital to the defense of Japan.

What would constitute "effective use" would not be decided until the circumstance arose, and then only after full consultation between the two governments, it was learned. Terms of the agreement are expected to be very general.

Technical talks were conducted here Monday between Richard Snieder, U.S. special minister in charge of Okinawa affairs, and Fumihiko Togo, director general of the American affairs bureau in Japan's ministry of foreign affairs.

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. jets, antipersonnel mines, Communist troops killed six Americans and wounded eight others in a battle that lasted five hours 60 miles northeast of Saigon Monday. Losses to the Communists were not immediately known.

Two other Americans were killed and one wounded in a battle 25 miles north of the capital. Five of the Communists were killed and three Americans died in fighting with U.S. air cavalrymen near Dau Tieng 37 miles northwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese infantry clashed with North Vietnamese regulars Monday in two separate battles. One was two miles east of Bu Prang camp and the other was five miles south of Duc Lap and 10 miles northeast of Bu Prang.

Civilian irregular troops and their U.S. Special Forces (Green Berets) leaders at the camp returned fire when the Communist mortar attack began. A plane flying over the area reported a Communist mortar knocked out and several bodies near it.

Viet Cong guerrillas also attacked a South Vietnamese infantry post about dawn just south of Bu Prang.

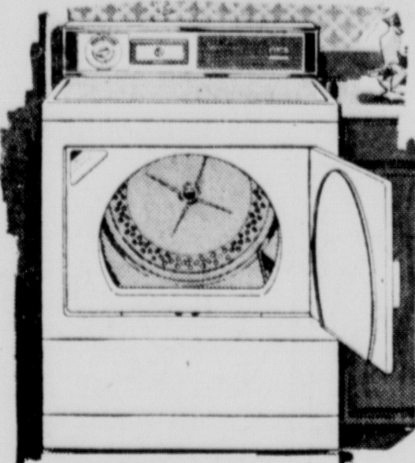

American planes pounded Communist positions around Bu Prang and Duc Lap in an area 115 miles northeast of Saigon with 17 "skyspot" night radar bombing strikes early today and late Monday night.

In an attack with directional Allied fighter-bombers also hit Bu Prang for the 21st consecutive day Monday. UPI correspondent Nat Gibson said the 500 South Vietnamese troops that have been shelling Bu Prang and Duc Lap, from shell craters.

Christmas Lights Assured By Village Board and Chamber

CORNELIUS M. COX

SAUGERTIES fund raising campaign to make There will be Christmas lights up the rest of the cost estimated and decorations across the at $3,000. Only $2,000 was village streets this year despite returned on the insurance and the Aug. 26 fire that destroyed the remainder must be raised the home-owned equipment by public subscription.

The traditional program of street lighting will continue through the combined efforts of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce and the Village of Saugerties.

With the insurance money the Chamber purchased new lights from G.A. Trahan Co., Cohoes and the Village Public Works Department headed by William Voerg will install them during the weekend of Nov. 21 to 23. The lights will go on the evening of Nov. 26.

The Chamber is conducting a

Arthur London, chairman of the Merchants Committee of the Chamber said Mrs. Robert E. Johnson at the Saugerties London's store is serving as finance chairman. Donations toward the lighting fund may be sent to her at the store. Checks should be made payable to Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce and mailed or dropped off at the store at 114 Partition Street.

London said the Chamber is indebted to Mayor Cornelius Cox, the Village Board and Superintendent Voerg for their cooperation. The Public Works Department will store, maintain and install the lights each year, London said.

The 14 strings, a project of the Chamber many years ago, have been used continuously for the past 14 years. During the years members of the Christmas Lighting Committee replaced some of the garland and assembled new strings.

The new strings will consist of permanent plastic garland with a higher wattage bulb to give brighter illumination.

The Trahan firm has provided modern centerpieces and a new type installation which will nearly eliminate shorts and problems.

The lights will be burning each evening through New Years Day. Village Trustee Maurice Clements served as liaison for the Village Board in making arrangements for the combined program.

Each line across the street has a separate meter and the building owner pays the light bill. When the bills are available the Chamber reimburses the building owners. In the true holiday spirit the majority of the building owners return the checks as a donation to the lighting fund.

Health Nurses Supply Service

SAUGERTIES non-adjustable, Canadian

One of the many enterprising volunteer organizations in Saugerties, the Public Health Nursing Committee conducts a very worthwhile and badly needed service to the community known as the Loan Closet.

Through the years they have accumulated various items, either by purchase or donation that are badly needed by the ill and bedridden. Many of these items are expensive to purchase.

There are always new items coming in so it is necessary to check with one of the people in charge when an item is needed and not listed in the Loan Closet. Many times the committee can furnish a lead on an item not in the closet but in someone's home not being used.

Some of the items in the Loan Closet include canes of all kinds, crutches adjustable and crutches, tri-pod and single crutches, rubber rings, child's wheelchair, folding wheelchairs, wooden wheelchair, bed slats, walkers, side rail, blanket supports, neck support, knee pads, supporter belt, ice bags, ice collar, heating pads, basins of all kinds, foot tub, tubguard, commodes, ace bandages, plastic aprons, plastic mattress cover and hospital gowns.

If a needed item is not on the list, it is a good idea to call one of the members listed below.

The following may be contacted: Mrs. Charles Abbott, 14 Spaulding Lane; Mrs. Bernard L. Rinaldi, 211 Washington Avenue; Mrs. John G. Washburn, 5 Cedar Street and Mrs. Theodore B. Eckhoff, 153 Market Street, all Saugerties.

Articles listed may be borrowed free of charge by residents of the Town or Village of Saugerties.

UNIVERSAL PEACE GOOD HEALTH TO MAN

Man has now reached out farther than his own earth. Peace on earth is therefore no longer a sufficient phrase for our times. Universal peace is now much more apt. The emphasis the astronauts have put on spiritual guidance and physical health shows that science and technology are not incompatible with divine belief.

As pharmacists we see this every time a new drug is released for public use and we stock it in our pharmacy. It gives us great personal satisfaction that man has been given the knowledge to seek out new medicines which can eventually give good health to all.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

GOP Leader Gives Views On Election

Donald R. McCaig, Saugerties election, McCaig said it was a Republican chairman, thanked hard fought campaign. He Saugerties voters for their explained that because local support of the Republican campaigns are not usually candidates. The GOP leader hard fought, some people stated that he was satisfied with thought there was some "dirty politics" in the past campaign.

Though disappointed that the GOP only elected two County Legislators, he said that there was a lesson to be learned. McCaig said with a little more effort, a third Republican legislator would have been elected.

McCaig who took over the reins of the Saugerties GOP in July, said he has some plans for improving the effectiveness of the local Republican Party as an organization for the selection, promotion and election of public officials. These plans will be discussed at future meetings of the Saugerties Republican Committee, he added.

The GOP chairman also intends to encourage greater participation by enrolled Republicans in the affairs of their party. People today want to take part in governmental affairs, McCaig observed. There is no better way to start than by participating in the affairs of their party and in the selection of its candidates, he concluded.

In commenting on the recent McCaig went on to say that the fact that the recent campaign was hard fought, will in the long run, benefit the public. It assures that the political parties will field capable and informed candidates for elective office, McCaig concluded.

Alecca, Gaines Head Israel Bond Dinner

KINGSTON Anthony Alecca Jr., of Kingston, president of Local 445 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, and Sidney Gaines, prominent attorney and civic leader in New Rochelle, have accepted the chairmanship of a dinner which is expected to result in the sale of $1,000,000 in Israel Bonds.

The event on Wednesday evening, Dec. 10 at the Hilton Inn, Tarrytown, will focus attention on the 1969 Israel Bond campaign as the major source of investment funds in the development and strengthening of Israel's economy.

Alecca has headed Local 445 Bonds for the past three years and at a time when an unprecedented proportion of the country's fiscal resources must be allocated to cope with heightened tensions in the area. The campaign to culminate at the dinner will cover Ulster, Sullivan, Westchester, Dutchess, Rockland, Putnam and Orange Counties.

Gaines has for several years been active in the Israel Bond drive. He participates in the United Jewish Appeal, the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, the Anti-Defamation League, the American Cancer Society and many other national organizations. Vice President, trustee and counsel to the guidance Center of New Rochelle, a non-profit psychiatric center serving adults and children throughout Westchester County, he is a member of the Human Rights Commission for the City of New Rochelle.

In accepting the dinner chairmanship jointly, Alecca and Gaines stressed that "Israel Bonds are of vital importance for the past three years and at a time when an unprecedented proportion of the country's fiscal resources must be allocated to cope with heightened tensions in the area."
